

Cong LI MSc

I conduct a survey about raccoon dogs (Nyctereutes procyonoides) living in large isolated green spaces in Tokyo survey using camera traps and try to clarify their activity patterns, habitat selection, and interspecies relationships. The research objective is to identify conservation tasks for raccoon dog populations in large isolated green spaces within urban environments and to propose conservation measures.

Conference presentations

Poster :

Cong Li , Yohei Yamasita ,Haoyu Zhou, Yayoi Kaneko 「Autumn activities of raccoon dogs (Nyctereutes procyonoides) in Tokyo metropolitan park with Satoyama environments」 , 『Green Infrastructure Network Japan』 , No.17, Tokyo, 2024/2

Oral :

Cong Li , Yohei Yamasita , Yayoi Kaneko 「Habitat selection and activity time of raccoon dogs (Nyctereutes procyonoides) in the Sayama Hills」 『The Mammal Society of Japan』 ,No.OC-15, Hyogo, 2024/ 9